Result of the Visit to the State Executive -Arbitration Suggested as a Road Out It Communication With His Mill Managers-What Robert Pinkerton Says of

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 9 .- The third morn ing since the terrible conflict that waged slong the banks of the swift-running Monon gahela opened blissfully quiet and sweet, with no excitement, no wild alarm and no scenes of disorder to violently agitate the sensitive nerves of Homestead. The day opened clear and mildly warm as it opened on each day of the latter phase of the trouble and the wind gently swayed the leaves of the fine old trees which give beauty, comfort and picturesqueness to this usually industrious and prosperous mill town. The splen did weather has been a godsend to the place, with dark, cloudy and wet nights in which all movements would have appeared suspiclous to an alert and watchful people. It would not have been surprising had more than one untoward tragedy occurred to be lamented. The nights have been bright and the pickets have thus far had no reason to suspect that more was going on by strangers than was visible to them.

The forced absence from town of several newspaper men and threats against others have been the chief things of interest. There is no quieter place than Homestead, an there will probably continue to be order and respect for property and citizens and absence of violence as long as the present situation continues. When an attempt is made to change the order of things which has prevailed for the past three days trouble may come, but until the nature of the change is apparent no prediction can be made as to what will happen. That a change must come from the present status of public affairs in Homestead is obvious. The town is at present under the absolute control of any person om the locked out men may care to select as leader, and the members of the Amalgamated Association cannot but realize, as their speeches yesterday would indicate, that this anomalous condition of things must give way. It is hoped peaceful and generally satisfactory agreement may be reached by which change when it comes will be without disturbance. The men at present are simply lying on their oars, ready to make a move when something new makes it necessary. DANGER BENEATH THE SURFACE.

The danger lies in the fact that beneath the surface quiet there is a smoldering feeling, which a spark may ignite unfortunately, and it may be at even the most inopportune time for the strikers themselves. increased by the fact that the men seem to be drifting away from their leaders. This was shown by the failure of yesterday's mass meeting to adopt the suggestion of the leaders that the Sheriff be permitted to bring his deputies in and by the action of some strikers who constitupaper men. The control of the leaders has been greatly loosened by their absence from town on many missions of importance. Last night a number of them were away in Harrisburg and other work has practically disrisburg and other work has patched and assolved the Advisory Committee that for a time kept the reins of authority well held.

BUSINESS RESUMED. Business is resumed, and the bar-rooms, which were closed again, all are now open. A more determined body of men never took stand on a labor question, and they claim they are fighting for home and family more than anything else. They are mostly men who have been here for years and have in-vested their savings in homes which they now fear they will have to abandon in case the company wins the strike. When the alarm was sounded Thursday night that more Pink ertons were coming, three women were see making their way to the river with guns One had a Winchester rifle, which was taken from the Pinkertons. They were relieved of their guns before they had proceeded far, but it was against their will.

TO- DAY'S PROGRAMME. It was decided at a late hour last night by the Amalgamated officials to have another meeting at headquarters to-day. President Wiehe, Vice-President Garland and other officials will be present, and it is thought that they will advise that the Sheriff be allowed to place deputies in charge of the work.

Sheriff McCleary will do nothing in the Homestead matter to-day. He has exhausted all his means and will await developments. It is now certain that no posse will be taken

The Sheriff in speaking on this subject said: "It is impossible for me to get a posse. That has been fully demonstrated. Even if I could get 500 men to act as deputies they would be resisted. The strikers say this themselves. They will not give up possession of the mill only conditionally, and I as Sheriff could not take it that way. Just what I will do, I can not say. I positively will not take men up there to be killed." "Will you again ask the aid of the Govern ment? "I do not know. I have asked for assistance four times already, and it has not come. I am hoping for the best, however, and will do nothing until I can do something that is effective.'

Much excitement was created in McKees port this morning when a detachment of the Homestead Guards passed through that city about 8 o'clock. The men were armed with Winchester rifles and marched out Fifth avenue toward Reynoldton. They said nothing and it is supposed they are bound for some river to watch for supposed arrivals of Pinkertons or non-union men. They were not halted.

DOING GUARD DUTY. Picket duty is beginning to tell upon the locked out men. They looked more wearled this morning than since the riot and the guards straggle around as though complete ly exhausted. The very numerous false alarms have kept most of the men from securing any continuous sleep, so that not a few have not slept twelve hours since last Tuesday. The men, however, never shirk their guard duty and not one has yet been

Around the mill this morning the same unceasing surveilance prevails, and when it was reported that the firm was about to send in some laboring men and carpenters to make repairs, the guards at the gates were doubled. It can be said that to-day there is a more pacific feeling locally towards the authorities than has prevailed since the arrival of the Pinkertons. Sheriff McCleary made a good impression among the men whom he came in contact with yesterday af-Sheriff will be invited to take charge of the steel works. "It has now got to a question of endurance That is the situation. We on our side have morality, perfect order and intelligent men, determined to stand firm. On the other side they have millions of money. Next, there will be no blowing up of things with dynamite; we are not of the anarchistic stripe. should it come to the worst we would take up our things and walk out of the town."

This was the statement made by a lockedout man, who is entitled to speak for the workmen. There was no reason why his name should not be given except that the Homestead are satisfactorily settled. The men are anxious that this should not be done. There will be a number of conferences held by them during the day. Most of the general opinion is that the Homestead these will take place in lodge meetings of the labor organizations, where the obligations of secrecy are more binding than at any other place. The committee which was appointed yesterday at the mass meeting to consider what should be done about business man is giving the situation a most ing to consider what should be done about thorough consideration. The questions are: the admission of deputies to the works has made no report, and it was said that no continuation of the meeting was in prospect.

BOB PINKERTON.

THE NEW YORK HEAD OF THE MERCENAR ARMY INTERVIEWED.

NEW YORK, July 9.-Robert A. Pinkerton the chief of the New York branch of the de tective agency, when seen at his office in Exchange place, said: "Among the mos absurd stories is the yarn about our deceiving the men we sent to Homestead. They knew, every one of them, where they were going. They knew that they were to go Carnegle Works and guard them. In our contracts with the men certain papers are drawn up which, in themselves would have been sufficient to show the men what the were being engaged for Resides, most of fully what strike work was. We have been the men were old hands with us, who knew fully what strike work was. We have been engaged in this business for twenty years, and everyone knows what is to be expected in such expeditions when a mob is to be faced. The new men whom we engaged were brought in by our old hands. The talk about advertising for recruits is all rot. No such advertisements were ever inserted, and before any of the men were taken on the papers had been full of the Homestead trouble for a week, so they all knew what was ahead for them."

"Are you satisfied with the outcome of your expedition?"

"Well, I can't say that we are very well satisfied with being driven out as we were by the strikers, but otherwise we have nothing to reproach ourselves for."

If the Pinkerton Detective Agency is recruiting men for service at Homestead or anywhere else it is acting with great caution and selecting only such persons as are personally known to the officials here. A man experienced in the service of the English constabulary, one who had taken desperate chances during the great dock strikes in England which were fomented by the redoubtable Tom Burns, presented himself at the Pinkerton headquarters and asked for the Superintendent. In the absence of the latter a deputy Superintendent saw him.

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

WORKINGMEN MOVING TO RETURN THE ENDOW

MENT FUND. PITTSBURG, Pa., July 9 .- Many of the worknnection with the lock-out of the Home stead steel workers. If they win their cause it means that Mr. Carnegie will be given back the $1,000,000 he gave the city of Pittsburg to erect the free library at Scheney Park. Last night the Window-glass Workers' Union of the South Side made an initial move toward reproving Carnegie. A resolution was passed recommending that Mayor Gourley be requested to ask the Council to return to Andrew Carnegie the money he had donated for a free library, and that a committee be ap-pointed to accompany President Eberhardt in waiting on the Mayor with a copy of the resolution. It was also decided to instruct the delegates of the association to the Trades Council to urge the latter organization to Council to urge the latter organization to take the same action.

It is expected that a special meeting of the councils will be held within a week or ten days and the matter will then be presented. This is the manner in which the glasswrkers have figured the problem:

They place the cost of maintaining the library at from $60,000 to $75,000 a year. At this rate in from twenty to thirty years the city would have more money in the building than Mr. Carnegie, but would get none of the honors through its existence. The men are in earnest about the matter and say they will not stop with the passage of last night's resolution, but they will urge other organizations to assist in agitating the matter and cause a multitude of petitions to pour into Councils asking for the repeal of the ordinance.

The action of the window-glass workers was received with much enthusiasm by the different labor organizations last night. It was a surprise to them, but they all thought it timely and a move in the right direction.

THE PUBLIC PULSE.

SOME OF THE EFFECTS OF LABOR'S BATTLE WITH PINKERTONISM.

NEW YORK, July 9.-From the very inside of the labor element in this city as gleaned this jured. evening, and from the iron workers everything points to a general strike in this city success of the strikers at Homestead has won sympathy of all wage workers in this city and men should be supported and given aid.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 9 .- The Anarchists held a secret meeting here last night characterized by the usual speeches denouncing monopolies and capital and sympathizing with down-trodden workingmen in general. The trouble at the Homestead mills was thoroughly discussed and resolutions in condemnation of Carnegie were emphatic. It was also urged upon all members of the Arbeiter Bund to consider carefully before voting the Republican ticket.
CHESTER, Pa., July 9.—The rolling mill of the Crum Creek Steel & Iron Co. of this city is shut down owing to a misunderstanding between the firm and the puddlers and the refusal of the former to sign the scale of prices.

POSITION OF THE KNIGHTS. ALLEGHENY CITY, Pa., July 9.—General Treasurer of the Knights of Labor Hayes passed through here this morning on his way from Chicago to Philiadelphia. Grand Master Workman Powderly went direct from Chicago to Buffalo. Hayes said there was no truth in the report printed that he and Powderly were coming to Homestead to attempt the settlement of the dispute at Homestead. It was out of his province, and nothing beyond extending sympathy was being done by the Knights of Labor.

MILITIA NOT NECESSARY. THAT CONCLUSION REACHED BY ADJT .- GEN. GREENLAND.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 9 .- "Everything i quiet and peaceable at Homestead at present, and the calling out of the militia is not of Adjt.-Gen. Greenland last night. The Adjutant will return to Harrisburg this morn ing and will report the above to the Gover but saw his agent, who investigated the Attorney Cox's office. "Mr. Frick made a strong appeal for help from the State, but cannot see the necessity for complying with his request," said Mr. Greenland. "Mr. his request," said Mr. Greenland. "Mr. Frick said he could not obtain possession of or free entrance to his own property and was positive that the Sheriff of Allegheny County was not able to assist him in getting possession of the works and feared that, should the Sheriff attempt it, it would result in the unnecessary loss of more life.
"I don't care to express any opinion on this last point, but shall simply report 'militia not necessary at Homestead at present' to the Governor."

THE CANNY SCOT IS MANAGING ALL THE MOVEMENTS.

New York, July 9.—The Pittsburg correspondent of a New York paper says that hairman Frick of the Carnegie Steel Co. is acting under direct instructions from Mr. Carnegie, who has been informed of the progress of events and of the outlook, and has kept in close touch with affairs at Home-Mr. Carnegle, it is asserted, is deter mined absolutely to maintain the stand his company has taken. Mr. Frick has received Mr. Carnegle's ultimatum that the company no matter what the end may be: that Mr. Carnegie will not sanction the re-employment of any of the discharged workers, and that he "will hold out until grass overgrows the mills" rather than give in to the associa-

A FOREIGN VIEW.

AMERICANS SCORED FOR INABILITY TO GOVERN THEMSELVES. LONDON, July 9.—The Telegraph, commenting on the Homestead troubles, says: The plea that it occurred in the far West on this occasion is not available. It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that Pittsburg has been disgraced by a series of atrocities to which the annals of modern times of the Old World afford no parallel. What must impress Englishmen the most is the apparent supiness of the Federal Government. It is probable that on the eve of an election both political parties are reluctant to incur the political parties are rejuctant to incur the risk of losing workmen's vote. The Telegraph adds that the riots at Homestead are on a par with the New Orleans lynchings. Both incldents, in common with a hundred others of a similar kind which have occurred in America, says the Telegraph, must suggest a serious doubt whether after all home rule in America works satisfactorily in practice, as it is the fashion to assert.

CASUALTY RECORD.

Passenger Trains Collide on a Pennsylvania Railway Bridge. LANCASTER, Pa., July 9 .- A head-end colision between passenger trains and another escape from a terrible disaster occurred about 2:30 o'clock this morning on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Big Chickies Bridge, near Landisville. A special train of Pullman cars, western bound, had been ru in the siding at Landisville to allow the first section of the Philadelphia express to pass. The Pullmans were then given the right of Mount Joy. The engineer. tried to make the Landisville siding, disregarding his orders. The Pullmans had just pulled out when the second section of the Philadelphia express loomed up ahead. the Philadelphia express loomed up ahead, and the two engines smashed into each other on Chickies Bridgo. The speed of both trains had been reduced, and more serious results thus averted. Both engines were telescoped, but did not fall from the bridge, which is over thirty feet high. The baggage-car of the east-bound train was also wrecked. The engineers and firemen of both trains escaped with slight injuries, the only person badly injured being the baggage-master of the Philadelphia express, who had his shoulderblade broken. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none injured. The track was blocked until near 110 clock this morning.

ROWBOAT RUN DOWN.

New York, July 9.—It was reported last night that the Coney Island steamer Cephus had run down a rowboat containing five persons and that three of the occupants had been drowned. One of the party, it was said, was a woman. A number of Christian Endeavorers were boating yesterday and it is possible that some of these may have been is possible that some of these and have been the victims. An account of the accident by one of the passengers says a boat was low-ered and dispatched to the scene. One of these hailed the Cephus and said that two of the people had been picked up. The other three are supposed to have been drowned.

BOY TRAMPS KILLED. JACKSON, Mich., July 9 .- Wm. Roberts, Thomas McInerny, August Gohte and Peter Hendricks, boys about 14 years old, who had been in the Waifs' Mission in Chicago for a while, and who had worked their way as far as Jackson on the way to Detroit, were sitting on a rail near the junction late last night when a switch engine backed down, killing Mcherny and so badly injuring Roberts that he cannot live. MINING TOWN DESTROYED. DULUTH, July 9 .- Last night fire practically destroyed the new town of Bowabic, located at the iron mines of the Cincinnati, Bowabic, Canton & Mackinly Co. on the Messaby range. The large camps of the Hamilton Ore Co., which employes 200 men at the Bow-ablc, were destroyed, as well as the buildings of the Cincinnati Iron Co., three stores, ten saloons and several other buildings and dwellings. The loss is fully $50,000, and the insurance very small. The work of rebuilding began to-day.

GEN. SLOCUM INJURED. NEW YORK, July 9 .- Gen. Henry W. Slocus of 465 Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, while out driving Tuesday evening behind a spirited team was thrown from the carriage to the ground and sustained injuries which are considered not to be very dangerous. He re-ceived bruises over the left eye and on the cheek. His family physician believes he will be all right in a few days.

Josh Stillwell Fatally Shot While Resisting Arrest.

MOUNT HOLLT, N. C., July 9 .- Josh Stillwell, a well-known miller of this place, aged 8 years, was shot through the heart and stantly killed at 10 o'clock yesterday by Edgar Fichte, a young jeweller of this place. Wednesday night Town Marshal Reggans, while drunk, brutally beat his wife and five children. He was arrested and locked up in the guard-house in default of bail. Thursday night Stillwell, and, it is said, others with him, went to the guard-house, broke the lock and liberated Reggans. Soon afterward acting Marshail Underwood and Fichte arrested Stillwell. He swore vengeance against them. At noon yesterday Stillwell made a break for liberty and locked himself in Jenkins' mill, with which he was connected. Mayor Lentz, with Underwood and Fichte, forced open the door of the mill and began a search for Stillwell, who then advanced on Fichte, swearing he would shoot him. Fichte retreated as far as he could go and then fired and Stillwell fell dead. Fichte surrendered to the Mayor. night Stillwell, and, it is said, others with

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY. GLASGOW, Mo., July 9.—A fearful tragedy occurred seven miles east of this place, near Roanoke, in this (Howard) county, about 10 'clock last night, whereby Mrs. James Forest lost her life at the hands of James Faris. The particulars, as learned by your correspondent, are about as follows: It seems that spondent, are about as follows: It seems that a young tough by the name of Will Lee, and a brother of Mrs. Forest, had been drinking heavily during the day and when in his cups is considered a dangerous man. Farris and Lee had a little difficulty during the day and it is understood that Lee threatened to do Farris up at night.

Mrs. Forest lived about a quarter of a mile from Farris' house and learning of the trouble it is presumed that she went to Faris residence with the intention of stopping any trouble that might be caused by her brother. Faris seeing a form in his yard and not being able in the dark to discover who it was and thinking it was Lee, commanded the intruder to not come any closer and not taking any heed he fired, the ball entering Mrs. Forest's mouth killing her instantly.

Lee was found after the killing on Faris' porch in a drunken stupor. Faris has given himself up to the authorities at Fayetts and deeply depices the tragedy, as he is considered a good neighbor shift suits. Description

FATAL CUTTING AFFRAT.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., July 9.—One day this week Bud and Bill Hargroves and a man named Payne engaged in a drunken quarrel at Ava, the county seat of Douglas County, n which Payne was seriously if not fatally wounded. There had been trouble between wounded. There had been trouble between them for some time and Hargrove, after filling himself up with bad whisky, made some hard threats and started to hunt Payne up. He found his man, who offered to fight, until he saw the knife with which Hargrove was armed, when he started to run, but only got a few yards before Hargrove overtook him. It is not known which of the Hargroves did the cutting. Payne is lying at the point of death and Hargrove is in jail.

FIGHT WITH RED ROCK ROBBERS WIOTA, Kan., July 9.-United States Marshall Grimes and a posse of deputies had a desperate fight yesterday afternoon near Union City, O. T., with the outlaws who a month ago held up and robbed a Santa Fe rain near Red Rock and captured one of the robbers. One of the officers was wounded and a robber hurt, but his comrades managed to carry him away. The officers took up the trail and expect to have another battle. On the captured robber was found a watch taken from the messenger of the plundered train, also some money.

Fire Sweeps Over the Beautiful City of St. Johns.

Six Lives Lost and Three Thousand People Homeless.

HUNDREDS OF THE BEST BUILDINGS LAID IN ASHES

Steamers Take Fire at the Piers-The Fire Only Stops for Lack of Fuel to Feed the Flames-Preparations in Other Places to Help the Unfortunate and Houseless People - Disastrous Fires at Other Points.

HALIPAX, Nova Scotia, July 9.—The most lisastrous fire in the history of St. Johns. Newfoundland, broke out yesterday during a heavy Northwest gale. It originated in a small wooden building on Longee Hill, near the top of the mountain. The insufficient water supply at the Heights where the fire originated gave the destructive element full play and its furious progress was practically unimpeded. The high wind carried live empers in all directions and soon a score of connagrations were started. The names swept toward the harbor, licking up everything toward the harbor, all the Masonic in its wide swath. The Masonic Temple, the Methodist College, Gower Mathodist Church, the masonic Church, the Mathodist Church Methodist Church, the ma-cathedrals of the English and R. C. Church, the finest places of worship, and built at a cost of over half a million dollars; the Orange Hall, the palace of Bishop Jones; the St. Patrick's Hall, the Christian Brothers' School; the Presentation Convent, the Supreme Court building and police headquarters, the government offices, Government Savings Bank, the Presbyterian Church, everything in the path of the flames, was consumed. The whole center of the city is one smolder ng mass of ruins. Not a building in the path of the devouring element was left standing, down to Water street, where the great stores, fish warehouses and wharves yielded to the flames. At 8 o'clock the teleraph and cable offices were burned. The fire was still spreading southward toward the historical Parliament buildings and Governor's palace. It is impossible to estimate the loss but already over $,000 people are homeless. The last great fire was in 1846, when three-fourths of the city was de-stroyed. The last public building to go was Parliament House, which succumbed this morning.

It is very bard to get any particulars of the disaster by fire at St. Johns, as the addresses of the people telegraphed to cannot be found. It is stated that two-thirds of the city is entirely destroyed, and it is reported that so far as known six children and one men lost their lives in the fire. A dispatch received states that the fire destroyed the Parliament buildings. A telegram giving the latest accounts says six hundred buildings have been counted and six lives have been lost. Much suffering exists among the people who are homeless, and the Mayor has appealed to other cities for relief.

At last accounts 600 buildings had been destroyed and six lives had been lost. Much suffering exists among the people who are made homeless, and the Mayor has appealed to other cities for relief.

The latest report, dated St. Johns, 1 p. m., has it that the south side is now on fire and the fire is coming down the Freshwater Valley. The south side contains oil factories and oil stores.

At 1:30 p. m. communication with St. Johns had again ceased, the wires having been probably burned down. Fire broke out afresh is two new quarters since noon, in which oil refineries are situated and in Monkstown, in which are contained the best residences in the town, and which was entirely spared last night.

Private advices received here say: The fire has swept Water, Gower and Duckworth streets. From landy Rankins to Signal Hill the only buildings standing are the Union Bank and the Roman Catholic Cathedral and College and the Devon Row Railway depot. About is hundred houses are burned. The loss is thought to be about $6,000,000. More fires are how raging at Broad Cove and Salmon Cove and have stopped all telegraph connection with St. Johns, poles and wires having been burned down.

BUSINESS ON THIRD STREET. A Dull Season, and the Causes for It.

It is a common matter for business an the brokers to be dull during the summer season, but at the present time it is more in season, but at the present time it is more in active than usual. The cause of this is not any lack in general prosperity, but the contrary. Those familiar with operations on Third street are aware that about the time that the season for summer tours sets in there are always a large number of operators anxious to sell off their holdings to meet the expenses of summer tours. The sales of these men, small individually but very considerable in the aggregate, generally constitute an important feature of the summer market. This year such a movement in securities is conspicuous by its absence. Those who put their spare money in securities is conspicuous by its absence. Those who put their spare money in securities instead of placing it in bank are not inclined to sell, as the money market is so easy as to render carrying stocks an easy matter, and from the few sales it is evident that money is more pienty than usual among the class that leaves the city in the summer. Harder times would mean more active trading in securities.

Mrs. Fred Siegren Alleges Her Husband Tried to Kill Her.

MER PROTECTION OF HER PRETTY DAUGH-TER GIVEN AS THE CAUSE

The Woman Brings the Chloroform Vial. Which She Say: She Took From Her Bushand to the Four Courts to Secure a Warrant-Holden's Sentence Commuted-Charged With Fraud.

Mrs. Fred Siegren of 819 Market street called at the Four Courts this morning to get a warrant for her husband s a carpenter, and has a shop North Tenth street. Mrs. Siegren said that she was awakened in the night last night by the odor of chloroform and at once suspected her husband, who was standing at the bedside, of having tried to kill her. He denied the charge and they had quite a spat about it. Finally, however, she dozed off again, but later on was awakened a second time by the same smel¹ and feeling and was certain this time that she had feit a hand on her face. The quar-rel was renewed and this morning she told Mr. Estep that she found a bottle of chloroform in one of her husband's pockets. He tried to take it away from her, but her daughter by her first husband came to her assistance and he

The young girl who according to the mother is the cause of all the trouble in the home circle is but 15 years of age, tall and a brunette with black eyes and has a very pretty face and pleasant manner. "It is," said Mrs. Siegren to a Post-Disparch reporter, "because of my interference in behalf of this child that he is trying to put me out of the way. See this," and she produced a small phial about one-eighth full of some liquid which she said had been examined and pronounced chloroform. "It took this bottle away from him last night," she continued, "when he entered my room and I woke up and found him administering the drug which pervaded the room. For some time he has been trying to accomplish my daughter's ruin, and it has been by the hardest efforts that she has prevented him from doing so."

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep refused to issue a warrant until he had heard the young girl's statement, which she this afternoon made to a Post-Disparch re-

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep refused to Issue a warrant until he had heard the young girl's statement, which she this afternoon made to a Post-Dispatch reporter as follows:

"He is not my own father, but my mother's second husband. For at least two years he has been trying to ruin me, and had it not been for my mother keeping a watchful eye on him I don't see how I could have escaped him at times. He has on several occasions climbed in at the window at night and come to my bed and forced himself into my presence when I was undressed. On July 4 last my mother was away and I locked the house, and he tried to get into my room by means of a ladder. He has anso tendered me money but I can stoutly affirm that he has never succeeded in his purposes. Mrs. Siegren and her daughter will apply to the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney again this afternoon for a warrant.

A reporter called at Mr. Fred Siegren's place of business to-day but he could not be found.

Prisoners Arraigned.

An arraignment of prisoners took place in the Criminal Court this morning, the prisoners being the fifteen men against whom in-dictments were returned by the Grand-jury yesterday. Wm. Heckart pleaded guilty to having stolen and embezzled by ballee $120 from the Gruner Lumber Co., and the Court sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary. Charles Jaegers pleaded guilty to attempted burglary, but sentence was deferred to enable the Circuit Attorney to investigate the circuit actorney to when he was arrested. He claimed that he had been driven out by high water and sought shelter in the freight car. He worked at the Missouri Car Shops and claimed that he had never been arrested before. He is 17 years old and his home is in Texas.

George Smith, a young colored man, charged with burglary and larceny, appeared withouts coat or vest and was barefooted. He told Judge Normile that he had only the pants and shirt he was wearing and no money to purchase other clothes with and the Judge informed him that he must borrow at least a coat and some shoes for his next appearance in court. having stolen and embezzled by bailee $120

Holden's Sentence Commuted.

Judge Claiborne surprised the Police Department this morning by commuting the sentence of Thomas Holden so as to make his term in jail expire to day. Holden and two other young fellows named Felix McAdams and Thomas Sheely Felix McAdams and Thomas Sheely were arrested a couple of months ago for picking pockets and all three of them were found guilty of petit larceny in the Court of Criminal Correction on June 7 and sentenced each to four months in jail. They stole $5.65 from Ewald Becker of 1220 North Twelfth street. Judge Claiborne said this afternoon that his action in releasing Holden was made on the recommendation of Geo. W. Anderson, who was on the bench acting as Provisional Judge of the court when the boys were tried. Judge Anderson had written him a note stating that he was convinced from what he had learned since the trial that the punishment he had imposed on Holden was too severe and that he had been punished enough. It was his first offense and the Judge asked that he be released. It was on this recommendation that he Judge Claiborne, had released Holden.

The other two, McAdams and Sheely, are still in jail.

Safe Blowers at Work. Safe blowers bored three holes in the safe of J. H. Vette, the money lender at 107 North Ninth street, last night and broke the combination in trying to blow open the door, but they did not get in, and Mr. Vette says they would have gotten only a few dollars had their operations been successful. No clue to the safe blowers has been obtained as yet, though Chief Desmond expects to catch them

Police Court Cases.

Bertrand Manning, a lame man, was fined $300 by Judge Morris this morning and sent to the Work-house for indecent conduct in the presence of a little girl. Wilhelmina Goepling's case was continued, the woman being in jail under a thirty day sentence for petit larceny. In the Police Court she is charged with begging.

That Fast-Driving Case.

Leo Hassfelt was fined $5 by Judge Morris o-day for fast driving. Several driving. Sundays ago Hassfelt with Wm. De Young and two other young men had four girls out rid-ing. They indulged in a race on the Lindell boulevard and Hassfelt was arrested. De Young, it is alleged, interfered with the officer and he was also taken into custody. De Young was acquitted to-day.

Released and Locked Up Again.

Wilhelmina Goetling, the professional beg released by Judge Claiborne yesterday on payment of costs. Dr. Priest, the jail physician, recommended such action. This morning her bondsman, Peter Morrissy, surrendered her on a charge of begging, pending against her in the First District Police Court.

A number of lives were lost at West Berkely and relief parties have gone from Oakland to the scene of the explosion, which is twelve miles from this city. The buildings are a total wreck and it is believed that none of the employes escaped, but the extent of the loss of life cannot yet be ascertained. The Berkely local train, which was standing at the station, was almost blown from the track and many passengers were stunged by the shock. One hundred and eighty men, chiefly Chinese, were employed there, and it is hought nearly all were killed.

Among the white men known to have been killed are:

The Revenge of Three Indian Maids Who Were Carried Off by Young Braves.

Mountain there are three rude headstones marking the tombs of three Klickitat Indian girls who died in captivity many years ago," said Edward Wanicut, a well known prospector and mine owner of Okanogan.

"Many years ago, before the outbreak of the Nez Perce war, the Courd 'Alene Indians, who were at that time a warlike race, often overran the domains of the Siwash, carrying off his horses, his cattle, and not infrequently his wife or daughter. The Klickitats are great travelers and they roam about from one place to another, always, however, respecting the property rights of others.

"One night, so the story is told, a party of Klickitats were attacked by a band of Cœurd 'Alenes returning from one of their pilgrimages of invasion. The Cœurd 'Alene braves were routed, but not until they had carried off three klickitat maidens, who were highly prized by the warriors of other tribes because of their beauty, endurance, and skill in the preparation of food. The pursuit was so hot that the captors found that it women or adopt some stratagem. Three young men of the tribe volunteered to bring the captives to the Cœurd 'Alenes, provided they were allowed to have them for squaws." The old chief reluctantly gave his consent, as he had fully intended that at least one of the beautiful captives should brighten his own tepee. It was better than to lose them altogether, however, and the three braves took the women to a cave in Palmer Mountain. From there they watched the rescuing party on the plans below, and when the young Klickitat girls saw their people disappear on the trail of the Cœurd 'Alenes all their hopes of liberty vanished. One of the captives was the daughter of a medicine man, and accustomed to handle all kinds of reptiles, from which her esteemed and highly venerated ancestor was; supposed to brew his most healing potions. The maidens appeared perfectly reconciled to their fate, and the Cœurd 'Alene braves, with a touch of that vanify which is so frequently found in his civilized brothers, imagined that the grea

DISCRIMINATING IN FREIGHT RATES.

Case of Northwestern Roads Submitted to the Commerce Commission. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9,-The hearing of the case of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce charging the northwestern railroads with crimination on freight rates wheat and flour in favor of Duluth, was concluded this morning before the Interstate tion of several witnesses in rebuttal of the testimony given by the contestants. Albert A. Keene, the Philadelphia representative

the Northwestern Mill Co., was the first witness of the Northwestern Consolidated Mill Co., was the first witness called. During the open lake season, he said. Duluth flour was sold in the East from 10 to 15 cents lower than Minneapolis flour could be bought. The reason given by Duluth millers for these lower prices was that they had the advantage in freight rates. During the close season the prices of both Duluth and Minneapolis flour was about the same.

F. L. Parker, a railroad man, said, in answer to questions, that in his judgment the 5 cent rate on Duluth to Minneapolis was a reasonably low rate. There was a longer delay at the terminal points in unloading wheat than flour for the reason that the former was obliged to pass an inspection which sometimes consumed an entire day, while there was no compulsory delay in unloading flour. Charles A. Pillsbury, the well-known miller of Minneapolis, a petitioner in the case, said that they did not require relief from excessive freight charges in the winter season because they could then compete with Lake Superior points which then paid 10 cents per 100 pounds to Chicago. He said that the 5-cent rate on flour from Duluth to Minneapolis was made in order to assist Minneapolis millers in working off their surplus. He admitted that the grain men in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce were numerically in the majority, and would be the real ones benefited if the relief asked for was granted.

Vice-President Claugh of the Northwestern Railway Co. made an extended statement with regard to the expenses attached to its terminal facilities and that circumstances which the road had to contend with, and declared that the Scent rate on flour from Duluth to Minneapolis was not only just and reasonable charge, but, in his opinion, a low buluth to Minneapolis was not only just and reasonable charge, but, in his opinion, a low tariff. This concluded the testimony and the case was submitted.

Killed a Big Cougar With a Club.

From the Ording Oracle.

Every one around Orting knows Morrison, the old hunter, and it would surprise no one to hear that he had killed a cougar, but that he had killed one that measured over ten feet without either knife or gun is another thing. On Sunday afternoon he was walking through the woods near Lake Kapousen, when he heard his dog barking a short distance away. He walked over toward the dog and saw that he had treed a large cougar. He was just about to call the dog away, as he had nothing with him to kill it, when the cougar made a spring for the dog and would soon have killed it had not Morrison runto its assistance. He picked up a club as he ran, and as the dog and cougar were rolling around the ground fighting, he hit the cougar on the head. The cougar then let go of the dog and sprang at Morrison. He beat it off for a time, but the animal finally got the club in its mouth and was reaching for Morrison with its claws. His only chance, though small it was, was to turn and run. He had just determined to do so when his dog came to his rescue and caught the cougar by the hind-leg. The cougar than turned on the dog and Morrison hit it on the back of the head with the club, stunning it so that he had no more trouble in killing it. It was an old she cougar, and, from appearances, had some young ones near by. Morrison took the skin to Tacoma and sold it for $15, besides receiving $5 from the county. He says that double the money would not tempt him into the same circumstances again.

OLCOTT'S DIARY.

THE MARVELS OF THEOSOPHY TOLD BY THE HIEROPHANT.

Col. Henry S. Olcott, the ex-President of the Theosophical Society, has just published in India the second installment of his work, which he calls "Old Diary Leaves." The work is of the nature of autobiography, a history of the theosophical movement, and a memoir of Mme. Blavatsky, thus exemplifying the mystic three fold autobiography. ing the mystic three-fold nature of things.

his writing are of remarkable interest and which doesn't care about any of the serious cts of the work. It is another case of the stuffing being more toothsome than the fowl. one particular legend in this second installment is so remarkably good that it is well worth repetition here. He writes:
"H. P. B. was still at Philadelphia (February, 1875), so I accepted her urgent invitation to come and take a few days' holiday after my long spell of work. Expecting to be absent from New York only two or three days. about forwarding my letters, but finding upon arrival that she was not likely to be home so soon, I went on the second day to the General Post-office, gave the address of my lodgings and asked that any letters coming to me might be delivered there by carrier (postal peon, as we say in India). I expected none, but fancied that the people in my office, not hearing from me, might address me at the Philadelphia Post-office on the chance of my getting their letter.

"Now happened something which astounded me then—knowing so little as I did of the psychical resources of H. P. B. and her maspsychical resources of H. P. B. and her mas-ters—and which even now, despite so long an experience of phenomena, remains a world-wonder. (It does, it does, Colonel, and is likely so to remain.) To understand what follows, let the reader examine any letter he has received by post, and he will find two office stamps upon it, the one on the face, that of the office at which it was posted, the one on the back, that of the office to which it was addressed; if it has been sent on after him from the latter office, it will at least been those two stamps and in addition. those two stamps and, in addition, those of any series of post-offices to which it was re-any series of post-omces to which it was re-addressed until it finally reached his hand.

"Now on the evening of the very day on which I had left my address at the Philadelphia General Post-office, the local postman brought me letters coming from widely distant places—one, I think, from South America, or, at any rate, some foreign country—addressed to me at New York, bearing the stamps of the respective offices of posting, but not that of the New York Post-office. Despite all post-office rules and customs, they had come straight to me to Philadelphia without passing through the New York office at all. And nobody in New York knew my Philadelphia address, for I did not myself know what it would be when I left home

"I took these letters myself from the post man's hand, being just on the point of going out for a walk when he arrived. So the letters were not tampered with by H. P. B. Upon opening them I found inside each something written in the same handwriting as that in letters I had received in New York from the masters, the writing having been made either in the margins or any other blank space left by the writers. The things written were either some comments upon the character or motives of the writers, or matters of general purport as regards my occult studies. These were the precursors of a whole series of those phenomenal surprises during the fortnight or so that I spent in Philadelphia; if I remember so that I spent in Philadelphia; if I remember correctly, I must have had about fifty, and no letter of the lot bore the New York stamp, although all were addressed to me at my office in that city. As I sent a number of these letters back to the writers, as curiosities of literature, there must be some friends who are able to substantiate this narrative. Unless I am mistaken, my old friend M.A. (Oxon) has one or more of these documents

After commenting at length on this phe nomenon, Col. Olcott concluded by saying 'The Philadelphia postal authorities, at all events, could not explain the thing when I took those letters to them the next morning, and asked them why the covers bore no New York stamp. They turned them over and over, consulted together and handed them back to me saying that such a thing was new to them, and they supposed there had been some negligence somewhere. Strangely Strangely enough 'negligence' continued as to my con respondence so long as I remained in Philarespondence so long as I remained in Phila-delphia, until as I said above, I must have received about fifty such unstamped letters with mysterious pencil or crayon writing inside that had not been put there by the respective correspondents."

Accustomed as is the venerable hierophant to giving staggering statements to a scoffing public, he betrays a realizing sense that this bewildering you is certain to be challenged. Not only are "the masters" implicated in a serious if not a criminal charge of tamper-ing with the mails, but the efficiency and intelligence of the department are impugned. and the swallowing capacity of the public is taxed to the utmost by the astounding story.

Therefore the Colonel defends himself in extenso, without waiting for an attack. He declares that the monkeying with his mail matter "came within the knowledge observation of numbers of people at the time, who, if alive, can corroborate my story; therefore it is not merely a question of my veracity. How was it done then?

"What hypothesis thinkable by a man o science will account for it? It involved (a intelligence to select my letters out of the United States mails, (b) the command of force to bring them into the City Delivery Department of the Philadelphia Post-office whose the intelligence and what the force?

force to bring them into the City Delivery Department of the Philadelphia Post-office whose the Intelligence and what the force? To one it seems from the selentific standpoint an unsolvable mystery. A Modern Sky Scraper Sixteen Stories in All—The Steel Shelton Plan.

The Union Trust Building, the contract for the erection of which has been recently let, will be the first modern "sky-scraper" erected at st. Louis. In the design of this building, advantage has been taken of the experiences made with similar structures in New York and Chicago, and it is believed that in the Union Trust Building, St. Louis will gain a structure which in general plan, in construction, equipment and artistic handling, will rank among the finest and best in the entire country, and whose design will be of so advanced a type, that it will not The process of removing the call structures upon the building site, the northwest corner of Oilve and Seventh streets, is well under way, and active operations upon the foundation of the "steel skeleton" system of construction will make it possible to accupation by October, 1883. Union Trust Co.'s Building.

Story even if the masonry of the stories below were removed, the possibilities of rapid construction are greatly increased.

The rigidity of the structure is further obtained by a system of internal diagonal braces and by the tile-floor arches built in solid at each story, as well as by the solid brick and concrete inclosures of the external portions of the steel skeleton, for while the individual members of the skeleton are so each story is independently carried, yet this masonry envelope will be made heavy enough, not only to cover and protect the steel against injury from fire, but also to add greatly to the inherent stability of the building as against wind pressure.

In the interior of the building all pillars, beams and girders will be protected against injury by fire by means of envelopes of holiow fire-clay tile. All stairs, also the elevator guide posts will be made of incombustible in the finished building excepting the doors and the window frames and sashes and the floors of the rooms.

The Union Trust Building will have a frontage of 128 feet on olive street and 84 feet on seventh street, and as it fronts on a wide alley the building site will have an external light frontage of 296 feet. By means of an external court fronting southward on Olive street, this exposure to outdoor light and air has been increased to 484 feet, so that every one of the 300 offices in the building will by this means obtain its light and air directly from outdoors. Two hundred and forty offices will face the streets, and no part the floor above the basement was laid, the frame was up and part of the siding on. Then the ladies arrived with their appreciated share of the work. Six or eight carpenters' wives flocked into the basement, put tablecloths on an improvised carpenter's bench and soon had ready an excellent picnic dinner of cold meats, ples, cake, fruits; etc. The joily lunch did not take an hour, for the men were jeal-ous of the minutes of their nooning. Then the house resumed its growth. The men worked harder and more cheerily than if they were getting $5 a day for it. The work was truly and substantially done, too, for their hearts were in their work and gave it grace. Skillful hands made window-casings, fixed for weights, and fitted them in when the openings were ready, and the stairs by which the Floods go up and down from their little front door would have pleased any contracting builder. It was but a few minutes past 5 o'clock when the front door was locked and the pleasant but informal ceremony of presenting the key to Mr. Flood, with expressions of cordial congratulations, ended the day's labors. If Mr. Flood wants to move in this morning his house is ready, but he will wait until to-morrow.

"This is the seventh house built this way for members of carpenters' unions here," said J. Meyers, one of the workers yesterday. "That house of mine you see over there on that hill was the first one. The boys put it up for me about a year ago. When I bought my material I had only $40 left, and if I had to pay for getting it built where would I have been? We believe in turning in to help each other along, and when you see this and know that we have won our eight-hour day, don't you think the union is a good thing for us to stand by? When my house was put up the account of it was published all over the country, and some of the papers headed, "The Way They Do Things in California." We expect to put up some more houses the same way this summer."

Carpenters' Union, No. 22, is the oldest union on the coast, and one of the largest, having

"Da, da, da," he was saying softly to himself, utterly oblivious of the presence of the officer. Cold drops of perspiration stood on the officer's forehead as he softly tiptoed to wards the child, for he realized that his suddon appearance before the startled child meant instant death. Still the child prattled away, giving itself up to the enjoyment of the novel position.

The officer reached out to grasp its dress, when a wild, hysterical shriek came from the hall behind him. The child turned and began to totter, and a horrifled cry arose from the street. Officer Snyder's arm shot out, and he held the boy in his arms.

Only for a moment, however, for a woman in whose face there was not a bit of color snatched she child from the officer's arms, and then dropped limp and fainting to the floor. The big-eyed boy looked about him curiously, while the room began to fill up with people. The mother of the child, for so she proved, clung tenaciously to him. When she became calmer she said that she had been in the Frobate Court-room and her boy was playing and romping in the hall. It necessitated the stoppage of vehicles and street dars, for in the suspense of the awful sight not a spectator moved, while a wondrous silence was caused by the unwonted spectacle. HURRYING UP JURIES.

Why Verdicts in District Courts Are Ren-dered Without Delay.

From the Newark Sunday Call.

Give a jury of six or twelve restrol men a comfortable, well-lighted, and cool room, plenty of tobacco and ice water, and there is nothing by which the Judge or the counsel on either side can gauge the time of deliberation. Under such circumstances juries have been controlled to the cont involving $1.49, and then come in with a disagreement. There is such a thing, however, as forcing a speedy verdict by making the retiring room uncomfortable. Freezing the jury is said to have been practiced with success in Minnesota, where the counsel for the defence "saw" the janitor, and it is just-possible that windows have been nailed down to stew a jury into hasty action in warmer climates.

stew a jury into hasty action in warmer climates.

No such precaution is necessary in the new quarters of the district courts in this city. The jury room is a narrow apartment, situated directly over the boiler room, with one window opening upon a narrow and breathless alley, fanked by the dead wall of the next building. It has not been insituated that any lawyer has encouraged the engineer to put on extra steam when a jury was deliberating over a case, but it is said that since the first of the present month no jury shas taken more than five or ten minutes to fry the fat out of any case which has required discussion in this room. It is used by both courts, and is the only apartment accessable. Of course, the doors must be shut when a jury is deliberating, and then the window does not admit the smallest of the zephyrs which may by accident have found a playground in the alleyway.

It is said that one lawyer has announced way.

It is said that one lawyer has announced his intention of appealing a case, because the jury found a verdict four minutes after the doors were closed. One of the jurors says, however, that there was a heated discussion over the case during the short time the jury was out.

point. This huge expense is necessary in order to prevent the reduction of taxes, and taxes must be kept up in order to enrich protected mendicants.

THE QUESTION AT HOMESTEAD.

In all the discussions of the Homestead troubles we have read and heard, in and out of the newspapers, the one essential and crucial point is, it seems to us, either overlooked altogether or treated as quite unimportant. The "bed-rock" question is, not whether the workmen shall be paid according to the old scale of wages, or the new scale, or on the basis of a compromise between these two, but whether they shall or shall not belong to the Amalgamated Steel & Iron Association, or any other form of co-operative and protective trade union. CARNEGIE says that no union man shall ever again work for him, and his representative and lieutenant, FRICK-already victor in several such contests echoes the voice of his master, and says that under no circamstances whatever will unionism in any shape or form be tolerated within his jurisdiction. In other words, CARNE-GIE & Co. have declared open and eternal war against trade unions in practice or principle, and if their late employes are willing to resume work at half or even onethird the old wages, they can do so only by revolting against and separating from the Amalgamated Association or other society of organized labor.

Now it is quite possible that CARNEGIE & Co. may succeed, temporarily at least, in filling their shops with non-union men only; but that such a victory, or fifty like it, would mean that Trades Unions will not be allowed to exist in this country, is a proposition too absurd for argument. As well suppose that a barricade of sand bags will make the Mississippi run up stream. Combination and co-operation, for mutual protection and benefit, is now a recognized principle in every department of business, from sand-haulers to railways. CARNEGIE & Co. claim and exercise a right to combine and co-operate with other iron and steel corporations for the promotion of mutual interests; yet when CARNEGIE & Co.'s workmen venture to do the same thing for the same purpose the Scotch philanthropist and his associates say: "Get out of your association or get out of our shops. When Capital combines it is all right, but when Labor combines it is all wrong.

This is the issue at Homestead. Capital nay win there for the moment, but that abor will win there and elsewhere in the long run, is as certain and inevitable as the law of gravitation. "Revolutions do not go backward" in this world, and Labor in this country has long since passed the point when it can be made the mere helpless slave of Capital.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

The dignified position which Judge MADILL occupied with reference to his candidacy for the Supreme Court nomination cannot be too highly commended. Assuming that office should seek the man and that the particular office in question is too high and responsible to be soiled by LAND are sufficient to elect him. But he is | the methods of huckster politics, he preferred to let it pass from him rather than degrade himself and the place by resorting to them. In defining his views on the subject to a Post-DISPATCH reporter, he

I hold the office of Judge of the Suprem affects business, the home and the farm comes ultimately before this tribunal and all HAVING had cheap foreign iron locked, questions of the power of the administrative out to secure high prices, Mr. CARNEGIE is and executive branches of the Government now locking out American workingmen to have to be decided there. The decisions of that court depend for obedience to them not get cheap foreign labor. He thus makes upon the bullet or the bayonet, but upon the protection cut both ways for his fat respect the people feel for the court and the men who compose it. Their decisions go out for one party and interest and against another, creating on the one band a feeling of triumph and on the other a corresponding feeling of depression, and the people must obey and accept them as the law and fustice. When we consider this we are not only impressed, but we are oppressed with a sense of the great importance of this court. I do not believe that a man who is willing to become a candidate for the Supreme Court can afford to go out and leg it for votes, asking A, B and C to help him, and putting himself under obligation of personal work, perhaps even expenditure. Poscandidate after he is elected but men are elected-and he is human afterwards, and in matters where all things seem to be equal is it not possible that he would feel the weight

This is the ideal attitude towards any public office of trust and honor, but especially that of Judge, and the sentiments expressed by Judge MADILL should receive the earnest consideration of all citizens. The popular idea that a man should hustle for what he wants, to which he refers in another part of this interview, and which he justly criticises in connection with the judiciary, has grown under the fostering tendency of practical politics into the unfortunate affair at Homestead, Pa., THE Grand-jury's prompt checkmating a monstrous abuse. stakes involved in his judicial action. Judge Madill is more honored in the loss of a nomination by reason of his honorable action than he would be by gaining it through means which would bring discredit upon himself or the office or would dim the crystal of judicial probity. His example is a valuable contribution to the public good.

MR. GLADSTONE is likely to die a disappointed man. The returns so far received indicate a very narrow coalition majoritya majority so narrow that even the despised laborites BURNS and HARDIE will be able to make terms and get something in return for their support. This result is perhaps to be deplored, but it is possible that the cause of liberalism and industrial reform will be advanced. Legislation aimed against privilege in all the countries of the United Kingdom, and which will benefit the people of England and Scotland as much as the Irish, is the programme of the Radical party, which is growing stronger every year.

To my mind it is not so much a question of getting a bargain (?) as it is to settle upon a proper location. "H. P. B." wisely says: "It was a mistake fifteen years ago when the Exchange was located in its present location, but." he adds, "it would be a vastly greater mistake, almost a crime, to buy the building now." As a member who never at tends a caucus, but who goes on 'Change regularly. I am of the opinion that the merchants of St. Louis should have a location further west, and instead of investing over a half million dollars in an old building in an obscure deserted part of the city we should have a new building, one that will be an honor to the merchants and a credit to the city. I have new building one that will be an honor to the merchants and a credit to the city. I have no ax to grind, but as a member, and a citizen I appeal to the members of the Exchange to vote down the proposition to buy the present building. St. Louis is jumping forward at a rapid gait, and is fast becoming a great metropolitan city. Let us get away from the dead pastlet little cliques and factions be swallowed up in the one grand broad-gauge idea. A new, suitable location, west of sixth, east of Twelfth, south of Washington avenue, north of Market street; a grand, imposing structure within this territory, even should it cost $2,000,000, is what St. Louis wants. So thinks.

I presume they are all English, Scotch and Welsh. So says the Florida fake who edits the political Will-o'-the-wisp. I will subscribe myself the accompaning name.

Inspector Sullivan Abandons Hope for the Milk Bill.

HE LEAVES THE CITY AND GIVES UP THE FIGHT.

Cant LaBarge, His Representative, Say Only the Legislature can Save the City From a Flood of Impure Milk-Capt Ford's Independence of Speech Proves

The members of the House of Delegates have made up their minds that the milk bill must be killed. They are not going to do it by bringing the bill before the House and voting it down, but it will be done by being kept in the committee box and not reported. This method, of course, saves the members who want to beat it from going on record by a roll call. The committee can always find a fair excuse for not considering the bill if inquiry becomes active,

The bill is intended to give the city such a rigid system of milk inspection that it would become a cangerous thing for a dairyman to sell milk from sick cows or to adulterate it. It would naturally drive out of business dairymen who made money by supplying this kind of milk to customers. whence the pressure comes on the delegates that has induced them to defeat the bill.

Milk Inspector J. E. sullivan thought when the bill had passed the Council that its way would be easy through the House. In fact, he has assurances to this effect from several down his arms in discouragement and surrendered, temporarils, at least, to the dairymen who had beaten him by their insid-ions work among the delegates. To-day he started off for Colorado and will stay there lous work among the delegates. To-day he started off for Colorado and will stay there the rest of the summer.

Deputy Inspector Joseph Labarge, who has charge of the office in the absence of Dr. Sullivan, said to-day, "The bill will not be passed. I hardly expected it from the first. I understand that the dairymen work among the delegates and tell them that such a stringent bill would hurt them. They will probably treat this bill as they did the last one, keep it in the committee and not report it. The fact is, that St. Louis will never have a system of milk inspection till the Legislature takes hold and helps us. I have thought a little of going up to Jefferson City myself, when the Legislature meets, and seeing what could be done. St. Louis is now behind all the other cities of the country in milk inspection and ahead of all the others in the low quality of the milk furnished."

Capt. Ford Too Independent.

A little speech to a Council committee has just cost Capt. George W. Ford, the Assistant Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, $500, Capt. Ford is a man who has been accustom all his life to command, more or less is portante. His salary is $1,500 a year. I consulted with Harbor Commissioner Di Able about an increase of pay, and the offered a bill making his sala $2,000. The bill came to the Council and went to the Committee Municipal Affairs, of which Councilms M. M. Fiesh is chairman. Councilmen A drew F. Hoolan and William T. Anders are the other members. Councilman Hools are the other members. Councilman Fread over the bill after it went to the read over the bill after it went to the committee and put in an amendment raising the pay of the laborers in the Harbor Department from $1.50. to $1.75 a day. Then the bill was considered by the committee in open session. Capt. Ford's item was first taken up. He was present and the committee naturally wanted to hear what he had to say. He stated that the office he occupied quight to have the salary of $2,000. One member of the committee intimated that this was too much of an increase from $1,500.

"Well," said Capt. Ford, in the bluff manner that belongs to him, "My salary is $1,500 and that bill asks for $2,000. Make it that or nothing. "Don't make it $1,800. I don't wan that."

nothing. "Don't make it $1,800. I don't want that."

The members of the committee looked at each other, but said nothing. The item for laborers' pay was then taken up, and Capt. Ford was asked what he thought of that. He said he thought $1.50 a day was enough. He went ont, and the committee discussed the bill. Mr. Anderson said that if the pay in the Harbor Department was raised the men in the Street Department would also want their pay increased, and that the city could not afford to do. The committee agreed with him and streck out the item.

"How about Ford's pay?" asked Chairman

"How about Ford's pay?" asked Chan.

"Well." said one of the committee, "if $1.50 is enough for the men, as he thinks, we certainly oughtn't to raise him to $2,000, and he says he doesn't want's $1,800. I think we ought to report against the bill."

All three of the members voted for the proposition. The bill was reported to the Council unfavorably end tiled, a polite way of defeating it without discussion.

On Tuesday next that ployed by quarrymen who send body will vote on a proposition to purchase their carts along Grand avenue. The complaints come from men have to drive along Grand avenue at The complaints come from men who have to drive along Grand avenue at night in vehicles. They say that the drivers drop great rocks off their carts on the street, and let them lie there. A man in a buggy, who has just passed along Grand avenue and found the road clear, may return an hour later and run over a boulder in the dark that will upset his buggy or tilt it up so far that the people in it will be thrown out.

"All we can do in such cases," said Supt. Duffy, "is to remove the rocks. It would be difficult to find out who is doing the mischief,"

Supt. Duffy opened another letter. "This is a matter that annoys me a good deal," said he. "Here is a clay bank at the edge of the sidewalk along South Grand avenue. The doesn't, and the rain washes the clay all over the sidewalk making the waking dirty and disagreeable. It the owner doesn't attend to that we shall have to do it in some way."

Investigating the Departments. President Cyrus P. Walbridge fell into a talk to-day in the Council chamber on the proposed investigation of the city departments, with a view to retrenching. "It seems to me that there was a committee appointed to do this, and Mr. Cole was chairman," he said.
The books were looked at and the committee was found, but it had been appointed last year, and its power did not extend into this session. Councilman Cole, discussing the investigation the other day said that the Assembly was not ready for such a committee yet. The committee might investigate and report a scheme of economy and the Assembly would not sympathize with the 'suggestions. President Walbridgs was asked what he thought of this attitude of the Chairman of the Committee on ways and Means.

Y., July 9 .- The contents the document handed to Judge Ward by Bank Superintendent Preston in connection with the National Savings Bank were closed to the depositors' committee years Dann had manipulated the account of Mrs. Judge Daniels to the extent of over $140,000 and gave a statement of the way in which it was done. During all those years Dann is believed to have pocketed the moneys deposited by her, making no entry on the cash deposited by her, making no entry on the cash book but from time to time making false entries in the ledger to make good her checks. Altogether, by the ledger, Mrs. Daniels might claim $96,000 instead of the actual balance of about $440. This statement was said to have been presented by supt. Prestoff as a reason why Judge Daniels should not be appointed receiver as was desired by the depositors. The deposit of committee then decided to recommend the Court the selection of a new board of trustees to take possession of the assets of the bank and pay the depositors as much as the assets will allow, provided the bank superintendent is willing and the insjority of the depositors consent. These trustees will do the work of a receiver without the expense of that official. Another meeting of depositors will be held on Monday.

Dr. R. F. Winchester arrived at Santa Barbara last evening. He states that Von Bremen was a patient of his. Winchester says he was in Los Angeles when he heard of the seizure, and went to San Diego to help his friend. His reason for registering under an assumed name was to avoid reporters and customs officers.

ARKANSAS SCRIPT.

A Bundle Which Had Disappeared Turns Up in Kentucky.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 9 .- When the State securities in the treasury vaults last October, a bundle of scrip worth $13,000 face and interest, mysteriously disappeared. It Louisville, Ky., and there sold to various parties. A few days ago $4,000 of the stoler securities were presented to the Treasures for payment, which was refused. this amount was sent here by the Union National Bank of Louisville. Ky., through the Exchange National Bank of this city, and the other $2,000 was received by the German National Bank of this city from the Fourth National Bank of Louisville. When presented to the Treasurer for payment that official said he would receive the money and give Woodruff credit for it, as it belonged to the State.

Woodruff credit for it, as it belonged to the State.

When Woodruff's bondsmen heard of the scrip being in town they applied to the Chancery Court, at which they obtained an injunction against the two banks to prevent them from disposing of the scrip. Prosecuting Attorney Pemberton will arrive in the city this afternoon and, it is understood, will issue warrants for the arrest of the persons suspected of the theft.

J. L. Forepaugh Suicides.

St. Paul, Minn., July 9 .- J. L. Forepaugh, formerly of the firm of Forepaugh & Tarbox, committed suicide yesterday by shooting yesterday morning, and, late in the day, friends commenced searching for him, but no trace could be found until 11 o'clock this morning found until 11 o'clock this morning when his body was found near Syndicate avenue in a clump of bushes. A revolver lay near his right hand and there was a bullet hole in his head. The cause of his taking his own life is at present a mystery, his friends and relatives knowing of no trouble that would lead him to commit such a deed. Mr. Forepaugh was a well-known capitalist and his suicide has caused a sensation.

LOG-ROLLING IN PROGRESS.

A Deal Between the Opponents of the Stewart and Hetch Bills.

News was received from Washington to-day on 'Change that encourages the free silver advocates, and depresses those opposed to the passage of the Stewart bill by the House Representatives. Telegrams come by way of Chicago to the effect that a number of the Republican Congressmen from Illinois, Ohio when the Stewart bill came to a vote. This morning the bill was reported to the House without amendment. A telegram was received from Seth W. Cobb stating that a large majority of the Democratic Representatives would favor the bill, but if the Republicans opposed it that it would be defeated. The move for the Republican Representatives to absent themselves was what the Democratic opponents of free silver feared. Should thirty Republicans be absent it is believed that the bill would be passed. The orders to withdraw are said to have come from the Republican Executive Committee, and to have been induced by the Homestead Strike. That President Harrison will veto any free silver bill is admitted, and the object of the move is to give the party the prestige of having prevented the enactment of a free coinage measure as a set-off to the Homestead troubles. A deal is said to be in procress by which certain Republicans are to join with the Democratic option bill, and it is predicted that this will prevent the scheme from being successfully carried out. The Hatch bill cannot be recommitted to the Judiciary committee except by a majority vote. Some Republican representatives have promised to vote against the silver bill in consideration of Democratic Senators voting against the Hatch bill. Its generally believed that the fate of the silver bill in consideration of Democratic Senators voting against the Hatch bill. Its generally believed that the fate of the silver bill depends upon the action of the Republican representatives have promised to vote against the fate of the silver bill depends upon the action of the Republican representatives as with their aid it can be defeated, but without such aid it will pass. and Iowa had agreed to absent themselves when the Stewart bill came to a

To-day is the last day for filing lists of dele The primary election occurs in the Fifth, Seventh, Ninth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Twenty-third and part of the Twenty-seventh the convention in Clayton on the 20th inst. In addition to the southern part of St. Louis In addition to the southern part of St. Louis the district takes in St. Louis and Franklin Counties, and taken all in all is good for a Republican majority of about 4,000.

The lists submitted to Recorder Carlisie up to this afternoon show that up to Bartholdt Bartholdt has much the best of it in South St. Louis. He has things all his own way in the Fifth, Ninth and Twenty-third Wards. In the Fifth Ward there are two tickets, but both are for Bartholdt. The fight down there will be for the Congressional Committeemanship, one Haction running Henry Bruck and the other Henry Ploehn.

Bartholdt's workers expected plain sailing in the Seventh Ward, but the Kinseyftes come up late, made the necessary deposit and put in a ticket headed by H. Blatz.

In the Eleventh Ward a lively fight is promised between the Bartholdt and Kinsley forces. Bartholdt has Henry Besch, Henry O. Slegmund and a number of other strong workers at his back, while Kinsley has the rotund silk stocking Louis Grund whooping up thines for him at the head of the delegation. The McGinnis influence in this ward is expected to be thrown to Kinsley.

The Thirteenth Ward has two delegations, one for Kinsey and the other for Bartholdt, headed by Dr. Max Starkloff and Col. Hecquembourg respectively. This is Kinsey's own ward and a lively fight is promised down there.

Franklin County holds its primary next Monday, and will it is believed, elect twenty-two Kiskaddon delegates instructed for Bartholdt as second choice. Kiskaddon lives in Franklin County candidate Bartholdt said this morning that the situation suited him and that he was ready for the battle.

Prenaring for the Struggla

The Democrats of the new Ninth Congres conventions of the year next Tuesday in its deadlocks and it may be that another one win begin on Tuesday. The district is made up of Pike, Audrain, Lincoln, Montgomery, Ralls, Warren, St. Charles, Gasconade and Crawford counties, and it has a good sized Democratic majority. There will be 67 votes in the convention and of these Clark has si positively and Norton 29. The two votes of Gasconade are uninstructed, but are claimed by Norton. If he gets them the convention will be a tie with out Crawford County. It will thus be seen that Crawford County. It will thus be seen that Crawford belost the key to the situation, and it is claimed by both candidates. Two delegations have been chosen and both will be in Montgomery to fight for admission. An effort was made to have the State Committee take up the matter, but the suggestion was not acted upon, but it may be if the convention breaks up in a wrangle and nominates both candidates and many fear that this will be the result. In the event of a deadlock which would ensue if Gasconade went for Norton and Crawford was admitted on the basis of 24 votes for each candidate an effort will very probably be made to compromise matters by securing the nomination of Judge Chas. E. Peers of Warren, T. H. McDearmon of St. Charles or State Senator Green Clay of Audrain.

Feeling has run high between the Clark up of Pike, Audrain, Lincoln, Montgomery,

This is the same district that broke all the records of dead-locks'in 1886 and 1889. In the 1886 convention fully 1,000 ballots were taken, and after a long struggle in 1888 the result was settled by tossing up a coin to see whether Norton or Robinson would withdraw. Norton won and he captured the Robinson vote, which nominated him.

Thus it will be seen the election of a Treasurer to succeed himself, if he is the legal Treasurer, would involve all his official acts in legal uncertainties, and should any great financial proposition be presented during his incumbency, such as the issuing of bonds or borrowing money, it would be found that no investor would entertain an offer to buy the State's securities or advance the State money until the Supreme Court has passed upon the question of the legality of the treasurer's acts. Undoubtedly the present incumbent of the Treasury Department of the State is a capable and responsible gentleman, but that is not the question now before the people of Missouri.

The approach of the policeman had added a fresh element of danger to the lad's daring feat. He had dived before his time and did not wait until the yawl containing his prospective rescuers had come into position. The yawl which is a luge rowboat belonging to the steamer City of Florence was five furiong down stream, when Speddy jumped. William Standard and Walter Jones were at the oars, and Herman Galiwitz, the chief instructor at the Natatorium, with swimming suit on, and ready for work in the water, was in the stern and steered the boat. When they saw Speddy make the leap before they were ready to save him if that were necessary, they were somewhat excited, and with redoubled energy spurted for the bridge. Speddy fooled them, for in a very few seconds he arose to the surface, triumphantly shouted "I am the Champion diver," and swam toward the boat. Prof. Bill Clark, proprietor of the Natatorium, had watched the whole proceeding from the War Eagle, and for a time was in a sad state of mental unrest through fear for the fate of his young protege, pupil and employe. But when he saw that Speddy was all right, he joined in the general applause which proceeded from the throats of the several hundred persons who had been quietly and secretly watching for the event. Speddy did not enter the boat, but with one arm raised out of the water he swam beside the boat down stream a distance of two miles. He was then taken on board, brought to a barge, and given dry clothes. For fear of the yicinity of the river and came up town on the cars.

Not injured in the Least.
Young Speddy was seen at the Natatorium about 10 o'clock and appeared to be in perfect condition. There were no marks on his body and no signs of any rough handling by the wicked waves. He gave an exhibition of his method of diving which is certainly very fine. He climbed to the highest rarter of the Natatorium and without any hesitation dived into the basin. He let his body incline forward very gradually so that the moniton could be scarcely noticed until he had come to an almost horizontal position when his feet left their resting place and Speddy came down like a shot. He entered the water only a short distance away from the perpendicular, and then arose to the surface only only a few feet away. He then mounted the trapeze and gave another fine exhibition of his graceful diving abilities.

DIED AT HER GRAVE

Suicide of George F. Bauman of Belleville Last Night.

HE SHOOTS HIMSELF WHERE HIS DAUGHTER LIES BURIED.

The Deceased An Old and Respected Resident of Belleville and a Brother of John B. Bowman, the Mayor of East St. Louis Who Was Assassinated-East St. Louis and Belleville News.

George F. Bauman, an old and highly re spected citizen of Belleville, committed sui-cide last night on the grave of his daughter, eighteen months ago at the age of 19 years, and was buried at Walnut Hill Cemetery The suicide was not discovered until about s a. m. to-day, when the body was found in the cemetery, where it had been exposed to the inclement weather all night. Mr. Bauman left his home at 128 West Main street yesterday afternoon for the residence of his married daughter, Mrs. John Blum, on South High street. He spent the afternoon with Mrs. Blum and left her house in the evening, as she thought, for home. Instead of returning to his own residence he walked to Walnut Hill Cemetery, a mile distant from his daughter's home, and committed suicide. Late in the evening his family became alarmed over his failure to return home. A search was made for him and kept up all night without result, but about 8 a. m. to-day his dead body was found in the cemetery. His deed has occasioned the deepest surprise. He was one of the most estimable citizens of Belleville, and was known as a sound, sensible business man. Bauman had conducted a large and prosperous bakery here for many years and had reared quite a large family. His social relations were of the most pleasant character. Two of his daughters, Mrs. E. P. Rogers and Mrs. John Blum, are happily married, and his eldest son, Julius Bauman, holds a responsible position in a large dry goods house here. The only reason advanced for his suicide is grief at the death of the daughter over whose grave he shot himself. Mr. Bauman was a half-brother of John B. Bowman, the murdered Mayor of East St. Louis. He was a member of St. Ciair Lodge, No. 24, A. F. and A. M., and stood high in the Masonic fraterity. 8 a. m. to-day, when the body found in the cemetery, where it had been

When men or women feel depressed or debili-tated at the present day, it is common to say, "I think I have malaria." What is malaria? Is is only germs that get into the body; germs that thrive and increase unless they are killed, germs that worm themselves all through the system; germs that ruin the health and under-mine the life. They are aggressive, they feed upon the body, they must be killed. Many things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought that quinine would accomplish this, but many people cannot take quinine; it disagrees with them, is often nauseates. It is known, however; that pure spirits taken in moderation will kill and entirely exterminate the worst army of germs which ever invaded the system. They cannot withstand it. Under the influence of pure stimulants the germs are killed, and the body is strengthened to expel them from the system, and thus restore the health. It should not be understood, however, tha all spirits will do this; few will. It requires all epirits will do this; few will. It requires something specially pure and specially designed for this purpose, and that is precisely what Duffy's Pure Mait Whisky is. It is a scientific, medicinal preparation. It does not rank with the ordinary whiskies, but is specially designed for fortifying the body and repelling disease. It has the highest indersements of doctors and scientists; it is wonderfully popular because it is so efficient and powerful. FROM THE BRIDGE.

Kearney Speddy's Daring Dive Into the Mississippi.

WONDERFUL FEAT OF A MINETEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY.

His Poot Struck a Wire as He Jumped Union Depot, St. Louis, and He Turned Three Somersaults, but Landed Head First-Swam Two Miles After Coming to the Surface-Not Injured in the Least.

At 6:30 o'clock this morning a lad not more than 18 years of age in appearance and clad | Hospital, died at that place at 1 o'clock this slouch hat, and a pair of canvas shoes. walked up the north side of the approach to the Eads' bridge. He weighed about 150 inds and his stride betokened sturdy imbs. At the same time a man of development and more years walked along on the side of the bridge. He under his arm a board about 5 feet 8 inches in under his arm a board about 5 feet 8 inches in length. The first of this couple was Kearney Speddy, the ambitious swimming school teacher who is anxious to take all the shine out of Steve Brodle's triumphs, and he was proceeding to the middle span of the big bridge to dive into the maeistrom of the Mississippi, which churned the water around the plers into eddles and seething vortexes. The second individual was Frank Barry. As soon as they reached was Frank Barry. As soon as they reached the middle of the bridge Speddy rushed over to the south side, quickly threw off his clothes, stood a moment in his swimming costume, and then quickly mounted the rails and walked to the end of the board which Barry had slipped from under his arm and projected out over the electric and telephone wires. It was their intention to balance this temporary spring board with 200 pound weights, but the notoriety which the event had gained and the fear of the police obliged them to alter their plans. Barry bore down on the in-ner end of the board with all his weight and strength and thus balanced speddy, who was

A policeman had seen the preparations for the leap and hurried forward to prevent it. Speddy spied him, and with a gentle spring dived forward. His foot struck the outer wire of the net work of wires which run along the side of the bridge on a level with the foot walk and he turned three mersaults before he again straightened out his body and with arms in front of his head

The approach of the policeman had added a fresh element of danger to the lad's daring feat. He had dived before his time and did not wait until the yawl containing his prospective rescuers had come into position. The yawl which is a luge rowboat belonging to the steamer City of Florence was five furlongs down stream, when speddy jumped. William Standard and Waiter Jones were at the cars, and Herman Gallwitz, the chief instructor at the Natatorium, with swimming suit on, and ready for work in the water. was in the stern and steered the boat. When they saw Speddy make the leap before they were ready to save him if that were necessary, they were somewhat excited, and with redoubled energy spurted for the bridge. Speddy fooled He had dived before his tin somewhat excited, and with redoubled energy spurted for the bridge. Speddy fooled them, for in a very few seconds he arose to the surface, triumphantly shouted "I am the champion diver," and swam toward the boat. Prof. Bill Clark, proprietor of the Natatorium, had watched the whole proceeding from the War Ragle, and for a time was in a sad state of mental unrest through fear for the fate of his young protege, pupil and employe. But when he saw that Speddy was all right, he joined in the general applause which proceeded from the throats of the several hundred persons who had been quietly and secretly watching for the event. Speddy did not enter the boat, but with one arm raised out of the water he swam beside the boat down stream a distance of two miles. He was then taken on board, brought to a barge, and given dry clothes. For fear of the police the party hastily retreated from the vicinity of the river and came up town on the cars.

NOT INJURED IN THE LEAST.

Not injured in the Least.

Young Speddy was seen at the Natatorium about 10 o'clock and appeared to be in perfect condition. There were no marks on his body and no signs of any rough bandling by the wicked waves. He gave an exhibition of his method of diving which is certainly very fine. He climbed to the highest rafter of the Natatorium and without any hesitation dived into the basin. He let his body incline forward very gradually so that the motion could be scarcely noticed until he had come to an almost horizontal position when his feet left their resting place and Speddy came down like a shot. He entered the water only a short distance away from the perpendicular, and then arose to the surface only only a few feet shot. He entered the water only a short distance away from the perpendicular, and then arose to the surface only only a few feet away. He then mounted the trapeze and gave another fine exhibition of his graceful diving abilities.

Speddy resides at No. 2620 Clark avenue, and was until recently a shoe cutter in the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co.'s factory, at Twenty-first street and Lucas place. He took a fancy to swimming and diving two years ago and spent much of his time at the Natatorium, Nineteenth and Pine streets. He soon became an accomplished diver and a few months ago Prof. Clark employed him as an instructor. Herman Gallwitz, the chief instructor at the Natatorium, a French-Canadian by birth, an ex-sailor in Her Britanic Majesty's Navy, and a man of athletic proportions immed from the britage same dish by birth, an ex-sailor in Her Britanic Majesty's Navy, and a man of athletic proportions, jumped from the bridge some weeks ago, and young Speddy determined to outdo him by diving head foremost from the same lofty height. He did so this morning and he has since been the recipient of many congratulations.

DEATH OF DAN O'MADIGAN.

An Attack of Pneumonia Carries Off the Quarantine Hospital Superintendent. Daniel O'Madigan, for twelve years past Superintendent of the St. Louis Quarantine morning, his death being the result of an attack of pneumonia, the first symptoms of which developed last Saturday.

Mr. O'Madigan was well and favorably known in St. Louis. He was born about fiftyfour years ago in County Limerick, Ireland, and came to this country in 1863, settling in this city. He first engaged in the railroad business after arriving here, which he soon gave up to accept the position of United States District Assessor. About this time he also became interested in the wholesale grocery business, which he gave up in order to devote his entire time to the Western Celt, an Irish-American publication which he established and conducted for ten years. The paper finally became defunct through Mr. O'Madigan accepting the post which he held at the time of his death. The deceased was popular with all classes and wielded considerable influence in politics.

A wife and four children survive him. Arrangements for his funeral have not yet been perfected, but his remains will be interred in Caivary Cemetery probably Monday morning.

The Friends of Ex-Constable Manley Ask for Clemency on Strong Grounds. The triends of ex-Constable James Manley, who was sent to the Penitentiary for embezelement, are making great efforts to secure his pardon from the Governor. Previous to his appropriation of public money during a municipal campaign, Manley had borne a most excellent reputation. When the Supreme Court affirmed the sentence of the lower court giving him two years in the State Prison, Manley, who was out on bail, surrendered himself to the Warden. His shame has weighed so heavily upon him that he has already suffered in the short period of his confinement more than men who are criminal at heart would suffer in five times the term to which he was sentenced. The confinement has broken down his health and his eyesight has become so seriously affected that his friends are fearful that he will go blind unless released at once and given the benefit of the best treatment. The grounds of their appeal for executive clemency are strong and they are hopeful that the Governor will be merciful. preme Court affirmed the sentence of the Electric Line to Kirkwood.

The introduction in the City Council last night by W. J. Anderson of a bill asking for a right of way for an electric road from the city limits to King's highway, revives a project that has been on foot for nearly two years to construct a railroad from St. Louis out to Meramec Highlands, taking in the various suburban villages along the route between here and Kirkwood. Efforts have been made nere and Kirkwood. Efforts have been made on different occasions to secure the necessary right of way along the Manchester road from the County Court. It is now proposed to construct the line over private property where there will be no restrictions or limitation to the rate of speed at which trains may run. Property owners along and adjacent to the proposed tracks are asked to subscribe a bonus of $250,000. It is said most of this amount has already been subscribed.

spected citizen of Belleville, committed sui-cide last night on the grave of his daughter, Miss Bertha Bauman, who died about eighteen months ago at the age of 19 years, and was buried at Walnut Hill Cemetery. The suicide was not discovered until about a. m. to-day, when the body was found in the cemetery, when the body was found in the cemetery, where it had been exposed to the inclement weather all night. Mr. Bauman left his home at 123 West Main street yesterday afternoon for the residence of his married daughter, Mrs. John Blum, on South High street. He spent the afternoon with Mrs. Blum and left her house in the evening, as she thought, for home. Inon South High street. He spent the afternoon with hirs. Blum and left her house in the evening, as she thought, for home. Instead of returning to his own residence he walked to Walnut Hill Cemetery, a mile distant from his daughter's home, and committed suicide. Late in the evening his family became alarmed over his failure to return home. A search was made for him and kept up all night without result, but about 8 a. m. to-day his dead body was found in the cemetery. He had shot himself in the forehead with a revolver. His deed has occasioned the deepest surprise. He was one of the most estimable citizens of Belleville, and was known as a sound, sensible business man. Bauman had conducted a large and prosperous bakery here for many years and had reared quite a large family. His social relations were of the most pleasant character. Two of his daughters, Mrs. E. P. Rogers and Mrs. John

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—On Thursday last there was a row between the steamers Rex and City of Peoria, in which the latter was successful, but the captain of the Rex alleged that Capt. Yorke of the City of Peoria crowded his boat into the bank. He has armed his pilot with a rifle, with orders to shoot if such an attempt is made again. The captains have long been bitter rivals and trouble is feared.

WOODBURY'S FACIAL SOAP

ROUTING AN ARMY.

How the Worst Invasion of Modern Times Is Absolutely Overcome-Hints of Great

When men or women feel depressed or debilitated at the present day, it is common to say, "I think I have malaria." What is malaria? It is only germs that get into the body; germs that thrive and increase usless they are killed, germs that worm themselves all through the system; germs that ruin the health and undermine the life. They are aggressive, they feed upon the body, they must be killed. Many things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought that quinine would accomplish this, but many people cannot take quinine; it disagrees with them, it often nauseates. It is known, however, that pure spirits taken in moderation will kill and entirely exterminate the worst army of germs which ever invaded the system. They cannot withstand it. Under the influence of pure stimulants the germs are killed, and the body is strengthened to expel them from the system, and thus restore the health.

It should not be understood, however, the all spirits will do this; few will. It requires When men or women feel depressed or debill all spirits will do this; few will. It require all spirits will do this; few will. It requires something specially pure and specially designed for this purpose, and that is precisely what Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky is. It is a scientific, medicinal preparation. It does not rank with the ordinary whiskies, but is specially designed for fortifying the body and repelling disease. It has the highest indorsements of doctors and scientists; it is wonderfully popular because it is so efficient and powerful. Do not be deceived into the use of any other, for there is no other preparation upon the market that can accomplish what is accomplished by Duffy's Pure Mals. You will find that it is kept by reliable druggists and grocers.

Arrested by Indian Police.

PIERRE, S. D., July 9.—Four citizens of Pierre were arrested by Indian Police yesterday nearly 200 miles from here in spite of a pass from Secretary Noble. They were taken over 100 miles to the Chevenne River at For over 100 miles to the Cheyenne River at Forest City and placed in the guard-house, where they are now. The parties are Charles Mellette, son of Gov. Mellette, and Clerk of the United States District Court; S. B. Wallace, manager of the electric light plant and street railway here; L. Nelson Gardner and a cowboy guide. Mellette and Wallace each carried a war club which seemed to inconse the police. Efforts are being made to have them released. The Indians know no pass but that of the agent.

Chicago July 9.—The business in wheat to-day has been light. Sept. opened at 70%c, sold as low as 70%c and closed at 70%c bid. Trade has been light and the bulk of it local. Our Government report due to-day has had rather a depressing induence. General estimates are for an improvement in the conditions of both winter and spring. If it comes so we cannot see anything but a drill and dragging market and there prices and we are secured. And the sharge surplus, if both crops are secured, and the sharge surplus, if both crops are secured, and the sharge surplus, if both crops are secured. Corn will do to buy on all declines of a cent or so. The erop will be a tight and a late one.

In oats not much doing.

Provisions steady. Some local buying towards the close caused the advance. F. G. Logan & Co.

A comparison of sales here with sales elsewhere during the week indicates that hogs have been 10@15 too high here. Of course this disparity could not long exist, but buyers here will continue to pay as much any one else and shippers will find this (as they have heretofore done) the best point in the West to sell their stock advantageously games. Their record up to date shows conclusively that they have played winning ball from the start. This conclusion is reached after one takes into consideration the fact that they have won their series from Baltimore, Brooklyn, Chicago, Cinclinati, Cleveland, Louisville, New York, Pittsburg and Washington. St. Louis and Philadelphia are the only two clubs in the League who have defeated them in the series. Brooklyn's great work the past week has come very near settling the question as to whether they would finish ahead of Philadelphia. Joint Ward and his wonders have won eight out of nine games during the week (not counting to-day), the result of which has about settled Philadelphia's chances for second place. Both clubs have four more games to play.

AT SOUTH SIDE. games. Their record up to date shows confrom the start. This conclusion is reached after one takes into consideration the fact that they have won their series from Baltimore, Brooklyn, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Louisville, New York, Pittsburg and Washington. St. Louis and Philadelphia are the only two clubs in the League who have defeated them in the series. Brooklyn's great work the past week has come very near settling the question as to whether they would finish ahead of Philadelphia. John Ward and his wonders have won eight out of nine games during the week (not counting to-day), the result of which has about settled Philadelphia's chances for second place. Both clubs have four more games to play. Should Brooklyn win all of them they will have a percentage of .675. Philadelphia, by duplicating this performance, will wind up with a percentage of .653. By winning two out of the remaining four games, which is a reasonable estimate, Brooklyn will secure a per centage of .659, and Wards' men ought to surely do as good as this. They play two games with Cincinnati and Pittsburg, both strong clubs, but they can not hope to do much better than break even with Ward's wonders at the pace the latter are going just at present. Philadelphia encounters, beginning to-day, Cleveland and Chicago in a two-game series with each. By winning three of the four games, which is about all their most enthusiastic ad mirer can expect, they will wind up with a percentage of .640, which would leave them still five points behind Brooklyn. Cincinnati, Cleveland and Pittsburg ought to, and undoubtedly will, thinsh just where they are at present. Washington and New York are having a bruising finish for seventh place, although just at present Washington seems to have slightly the best of it. St. Louis, Louisville and Baltimore will, it can be relied upon, wind up as they stand at present.

TO-MORROW'S GAME. The Washingtons will play the St. Louis Browns to-morrow afternoon at Sportsman's Park. It will be the last Sunday game in St. Louis for a month. The Washingtons will present their college pitcher, Abbey, who has been doing good work since joining them. Either Galvin or Gleason will, pitch for the Browns. Play will be called at 8:30 o'clock.

TROTTING AT SAGINAW. SAGINAW, Mich., July 9.—Unless the weather prevents, prospects are favorable for good racing at the Union Park summer meeting next week. There are 110 entries for fourteen next week. There are 10 entries for fourteen races on the programme and they represent some of the best stables in the country, among which are the Salisbury Stables of Pleasanton, (al., that of Dubois Bros. of Denver, Colo., Dr. J. W. Day of Waterloo, N. Y., Cantilever Bros. of Fort Wayne, Ind., Adam Schantz of Dayton, O., and many others. The classes are well filled with good horses, and great contests will be in order next week. Nothing but poor weather can prevent this week from being a great success. TRACK TALK.

Tod Sloan's advent at Monmouth Park has caused much comment in his favor. He had a cigar tailer than himself and his first mount was on Osric, running unplaced. Still Tod has great hopes and the Eastern turfmen have an opinion that he will prove a capable jockey. Tod can ride at 88 pounds and should do well as a light-weight.

BILLIARDS CHICAGO, Ill., July 9 .- J. L. B. McCleery, the well-known billiardist, who came to Chicago to witness the Slosson-Ives match, and who was taken sick, is in a fair way to recovery. He has been in the care of friends who reside on Forest avenue, and his condition was so serious that at one time death was momentarily expected. In fact, a report gained currency in the East that he had died.

What is needed to check adulteration is intelligence on the part of consumers. The inducement to put adulterated preparations on the market lies in the fact that a large part of the purchasi ing public is always ready to accept the cheapest that can be had, without thinking that the quality of the article must be cheapened in proportion to the reduction in the price demanded. People must learn that they can better afford to buy Dr Price's Delicious Flavoring Extracts than the cheapened substitutes. There is economy for the poorest in purchasing
